

'I asked for two olives and yes, I do want the little umbrella'

Elevator pitch

The go to page for all you cocktail needs.

- Recipes for your favourite cocktails
- Find local cocktail bars
- Find stores that stock ingredients to make your favourite cocktails
- Get cocktail suggestions
- Stores your favourite cocktail recipes
- Select a popular cocktail

Concept

- Description.

Search for your favourite cocktails or try something new!

- Motivation for development?

A one stop shop for all your cocktail needs.

Whether that is at home or for a planned night out. An easy to use page that helps make cocktails easy.

- User story.

As a user I want to have friends over for an evening of fun. If entertaining guests for an evening, making cocktails can be a great activity for everyone to partake in. You also get the added bonus of drinking the end result! With this many cocktail recipes at hand, it could be a long night!

Process

- Technologies Used.

Multiple API calls to give the page more depth and uses.

Modals help guide the user through the experience. Google maps API gets the users location and can make great recommendations for places to go drink or shopping for ingredients. Bootstrap helps give our page a clean and professional appearance. Client side local storage is used to remember the users favourite cocktail.

- Breakdown of tasks and roles.

Grant, Jack, Jason explain what we did.

- Challenges.

GitHub merges, writing co-compatible code, having clear direction for what we want to achieve each day.

- Successes.

Merging branches, completing individual tasks in good time, not holding each other up, (Overcoming the individual challenges we faced as explained above)

Directions for Future Development

Possible development/improvements

- Fun facts. (Origins of the cocktail, famous quotes connected to cocktails, famous people favourite cocktail.)
- More search options (Searching with wider and or more varied range of parameters. Country of origin for example.)
- More exciting UI to match the excitement of strong alcoholic cocktails.
- Dynamic search bar populating drinks from the API list.
